

Congested Roads in Central Oregon

May 13, 2010

It won't come as a surprise to most local drivers...But Highway 97 on the north end of Bend is considered one of the most congested spots on the state highway map.

A new report out by the Department of Transportation identifies that stretch of the highway as the 13th worst chokepoint in the state.

ODOT has been working on plans to realign that section of the road.

Also on the list...The south section of Highway 97 in Redmond is at #26 and the Murphy Road Hwy 97 interchange in Bend is at #34.
