

Honolulu Roads Ranked 5th Worst in Nation

By Catherine Cruz · November 2, 2018

A small, residential street in Manoa was highlighted by Honolulu Mayor Kirk Caldwell as an example of long-neglected streets that his administration is repaving.

CREDIT RYAN FINNERTY

It's no secret that Hawaii's roads are in poor condition. A recent study by TRIP, by a national Transportation research group, ranked Honolulu's roads and highways as 5th worst in the nation. But with sky high vehicle registration fees, why are our roads still in such bad shape? Our panel explores the state of Hawaii's roads and offers some explanations and solutions.

Guests:

Ed Sniffen, Administrator for the State Department of Transportation's Highways Division

Ross Sasamura, Department of Facility Maintenance Director and Chief Engineer

Intro Music: Dance of Maria by Elias Rahibini

Urban Roads TRIP Report October 2018 by HPR News on Scribd