

THE DAILY COURIER

- LOCAL MATTERS -

Carolinas' rural roads pose dangers to drivers

From Staff Reports | May 22, 2019 12:13 PM

CHARLOTTE - A recent study done by TRIP, a national transportation research group, found that North Carolina's rural bridges have significant deficiencies (9th in the nation) and its rural roads have high fatality rates (11th in the nation) and the organization is suggesting repairs and modernization to improve conditions.