TRIP needs your help. And vice versa.

What The Road Information Program is doing to help the highway industry and the traveling public.

TRIP has programmed 20,000 airings on NBC's "Monitor" reaching 8,000,000 people per weekend in 250 key urban and rural areas. Plus 23,000,000 newspaper exposures (shown above) to readers including legislators in all 50 state capitals and Washington. Plus magazine ads in U.S. News & World Report, plus brochures, plus a film seen by over 10 million people. Most of these in just the past year.

Our objectives have been to develop public support for modernization of highways, to preserve the Highway Trust Fund, to promote the use of highways, and to combat the attacks of opposing forces. We need money to continue the job—money and your personal help. Help us to help you!

For reprints of our ads, radio scripts, brochures and correspondence to legislators . . . plus information on how you can help TRIP to help you . . . write today to:

America the Dangerous.

Where 200,000 miles of obsolete highways lie ready to take your life—unless...

unless you join the drive for safer roads. You pay license fees and gasoline taxes. You deserve something better than narrow lanes, blocked visibility, dangerous curves, and other hazards that can claim your car. And maybe your life. Right now, America has about 200,000 miles of substandard primary highways. Designed and built many years ago they're far from adequate for today's motoring needs. Ride them with extra care. Money is available for road upgrading. But threats are being made to divert this money to other than highway uses. Contact your local highway officials. You owe it to yourself, and many others, to take action. This doesn't have to be America the Dangerous...unless you want it to be.

Crumbling Arteries?

America's Interstate Highway arteries are crumbling. Parts of the system are more than 20 years old, and only 4 per cent is completely adequate for present traffic by federal standards. What can be done? It starts by making the public aware of benefits from better Interstates and roads and bridges everywhere. That's TRIP's full-time job. But, TRIP needs support from the roadbuilding industry to keep running. Contact us. We'll all be in better shape.

Let's conserve fuel...and help drive down the high cost of living.

You know that stop and go driving wastes gas. But did you know that even in light traffic, your gas mileage drops off by 15%? And in heavy traffic by more than 45% when compared with 40-miles-per-hour in unobstructed traffic? Under these conditions gas mileage of 17 miles-per-gallon drops to somewhere around nine.

Traffic congestion costs you in other ways, too. Nearly everything we use—food, clothing, appliances, necessities and luxuries alike—travels by truck. And when operating costs go up due to poor road conditions, guess whose grocery bill goes up?

We could keep traffic flowing more smoothly, a lot more economically, and a lot less wastefully, by improving road conditions. Like paving or repaving sub-standard roads. By putting passing lanes on steep hills. By replacing narrow and weakened bridges, widening underpasses, getting rid of bottle-necks.

Smooth, steady driving means lower fuel consumption, thus lower operating costs. And that means one less thing to drive up today's prices. The Road Information Program, Inc., 485 National Press Building, Washington, D.C. 20004.

Your roads. You've got a lot riding on them.

NBC NEWS SUNDAY TODAY

When NBC Sunday Today began researching a feature story focusing on the nation's decaying bridges, they contacted TRIP for the facts. The result was an in depth look at the crisis situation affecting all Americans, every day.

Airdate: June 12, 1988 Audience: 5 Million

CABLE NEWS NETWORK

The holiday weekend was an opportune time to focus on the problems facing our nation's aging bridges. TRIP furnished producers with extensive background information for this story and once again a TRIP spokesman was interviewed on camera.

Airdate: Memorial Day Weekend Audience: 20 Million

CBS EVENING NEWS WITH DAN RATHER

"The nation's roads and bridges are getting old and it's showing, but public spending for inspection and repair hasn't kept pace." This statement, made by reporter Richard Roth, set the tone for a news story and interview with TRIP's executive director highlighting the plight of our nation's aging, clogged roads and bridges.
